Dix.Lathrop specializes in exterior color services for a wide range of projects including mixed use, retail, commercial, and multi-family and single-family applications. We feel a well implemented color palette provides strength to the vision and contributes to the sense of place of the project. Our designers will work to develop a palette that best represents the project's character.

Dix.Lathrop offers expert exterior design consultations, custom color palette selections, sketch renderings and digital color renderings. Color is one of the most cost effective solutions to achieve immediate benefits, increase property value and sales while creating a distinctive property that will stand out against competitors for years to come.
